Nina Gibson is a Keynote Speaker, Singer/Songwriter, Intuitive, and Contemporary Shamanic Practitioner. She is a mother, grandmother, artist in residence at a private school, and chief engineer upgrading air traffic control systems. Nina wrote the music to "Unity Blessing" sung at Unity churches all over the world. Always a deep thinker, she frequents the woods drawn there by her love of the Divine in nature, a recurring theme of her original music compositions. Nina is ordained through the Circle of the Sacred Earth and feels called to teach the path home to our own well of intuition and wisdom. As a life-long spiritual speaker, she enjoys the experience of allowing a message or original music to come through and is honored to share through speaking, singing, and leading meditations. In addition to guitar and vocals, Nina plays traditional Irish fiddle. She uses sound therapy, soulful chanting with healing harmonies, and powerful drumming to create sacred space. She facilitates community drum circles and was invited to co-lead a drum workshop / drum circle at Unity Village for Sound Connections conferences. Nina values the opportunity to connect with people and share life's adventures and she is dedicated to a vision of returning humanity back to nature's rhythm, wisdom, and love.
